Hi, I am Ivan an automation and robotics engineer by trade, adrenaline seeker by nature. When I'm not debugging complex PLC logic or optimizing code to keep the factory floor running smoothly, you'll likely find me in one of three places: at the gym, on my motorcycle chasing the next horizon, or in the boxing training—a habit I picked up during university that taught me how to handle pressure better than any textbook ever could. I've spent the last few years blending my love for tech with a serious case of wanderlust, traveling whenever possible to reset my perspective. I thrive on solving messy technical problems, but I'm at my best when I'm moving—whether it's code, a bike, or a heavy bag.
